How to Complete Your Georgia Release of Liability

General release of claims

INSTRUCTIONS — KEEP FOR YOUR RECORDS. DO NOT ATTACH THIS PAGE TO YOUR RELEASE.

About this form. A release of liability is an agreement in which one person gives up claims against another about a specific incident or matter, usually in exchange for a payment. It is used to settle minor property damage, accidents and private disputes. Releases involving injuries, insurance or large amounts can have serious consequences, so consider having an attorney review it before signing.

1. Parties
   Enter the person giving the release and the person or business being released.
2. Matter and payment
   Describe the incident precisely and the payment or other consideration.
3. Releasor signs before a notary
   Read the whole release first. Bring a current photo ID.

Signing requirements: Signed by the releasor before a notary public.

After It's Signed

- Each party keeps a signed original. Do not sign until any payment terms are clear.
