How to Complete Your Texas Personal Injury Settlement Release

Release of All Claims, Personal Injury (Texas)

INSTRUCTIONS — KEEP FOR YOUR RECORDS. DO NOT ATTACH THIS PAGE TO YOUR DOCUMENT.

About this form. A release ends an injury claim in exchange for a settlement payment. Many insurers require the claimant's signature to be notarized before they issue the check.

1. Read it carefully
   A release is final. Once signed, the claim usually cannot be reopened. Talk to an attorney before signing if you have any questions.
2. Sign before a notary
   Bring a current, government-issued photo ID.

After It's Signed

- Return the signed release as the insurer directs, and keep a copy.

RELEASE OF ALL CLAIMS (PERSONAL INJURY)

Texas

Releasing party (claimant)

Address

Released parties (persons, companies, and insurers)

Date and place of incident

Claim number

Settlement amount ($)

In exchange for the settlement amount, the releasing party releases and forever discharges the released parties from all claims, known and unknown, for bodily injury, property damage, and all other losses arising from the incident. The releasing party agrees to pay from the settlement any medical, hospital, insurance, or government liens (including Medicare or Medicaid) related to the incident, and states that no one else holds any part of these claims. This release is a compromise of a disputed claim and is not an admission of liability. The releasing party has read this release, understands it, and signs it voluntarily.
